Q&A

- To clarify is this the form we must submit to set up a TEMS traveler and not just a preparer? (ARTS)

TEMS account request form is for anyone that will be using the system, traveler and/or approver.

- If there's a city that defaults to 0 miles in TEMS, are we allowed to use MapQuest to see the distance between that city and where they'd headed and use that one-way mileage as an estimate? (CRAB) Lamont, WA.

Yes, it is OK to use maps to calculate the mileage if the system is not calculating it.

- What level does the approval have to come from (light refreshments)? (PSP)

Depends on the agency's size and organization structure, usually approved by CFO, Assistant Director, or Director.

- If an agency provides a light meal like yogurt, fruit, donuts, & coffee/juice. Is this considered a meal, and it is not reimbursed? Can a traveler still get reimbursed for that meal period?

Yogurt, fruit, donuts, & coffee/juice is considered light refreshments (and not a meal) and will need pre-approval. If the traveler is in travel status during that meal period, then they are qualified to get meal reimbursement for that meal period even if light refreshments were provided.

- How does travel time trigger overtime? (PLIA)

Contact your payroll business partner, this will depend on the type of position and salary structure.

- If I was not informed of travel occurring and was not able to make the reservations myself under government rates, and a hotel receipt was submitted that is above per diem rates, would that individual receive ONLY the per diem rate based off GSA? (BORPELS)

Pre-approval is required for exceeding the Lodging per-diem. If the trip doesn't qualify under the exceptions, then the reimbursement rate would be the lodging per-diem rate. If you are pro-rating the lodging rate, make sure to pro-rate the taxes.

- Are tips for airport shuttles an allowable reimbursable travel cost? If so, do you need a receipt? (DAHP)

Depends on the agency's policy. If the shuttle cost including the tip is over $50.00 than a receipt is required.

- If travel status begins right after a meal period begins, is the traveler still able to claim the meal?

The traveler must be in travel status for the entire meal period to be eligible for the meal. Even if the travel status begins 5 minutes after the meal period begins. Due to how strictly we are audited on SAAM Chapter 10 guidance from OFM, this must be followed.
